Diagnosis and summary of the case

Summary: - Neeraj Yadav used to be a happy & normal attitude child but gradually due to the indifferent & neglected treatment received at home, he became disobedient and reserved. He has become a distractive child in class so as to seek attention at every place.

Remedial Suggestions: -

Most important is counselling of child & actively involving him in tasks that he enjoy so that he can show his perform and receive appreciation which would make him feel wanted, build confidence & give him a sense of achievement.

Also this would always keep his mind preoccupied & hence he would not be able to ponder over the negative thoughts.

Counselling sessions should be taken with parents to work on their unconscious mistakes and give quality time to their child.

I observed that the girl is reserved in nature. At home also the environment is not study-friendly. At school her classmates also do not like being in her company. This makes her introvert and quiet in nature. She does not pay proper attention on her work and this is the reason why she is weak in studies.

समस्या का विवरण

Statement of problem

Anushka Gaur is in class IV. She wears thick glasses and has unclear speech. In academics, being unable to cope with the syllabus, she requires the help of the school counselor. Anushka has been diagnosed as a slow learner and she is given extra help in school. Having said this, a 'slow learner' is not a diagnostic category. It is a term that people use to describe a student who has the ability to learn necessary academic skills, but at the rate & depth which is below average when compared to same age peers.

प्रेषक अभिकरण

Referring agency

The class teacher finds it difficult to handle Anushka since instead of completing his work, Anushka puts her head down and pretends to go to sleep. Sometimes, she lies down on the floor or runs out of the classroom.
